

Bachelor thesis "Marketing communication of the Civic Democratic Party in the parliamentary elections planned for Autumn 2009" deals with the problem of political marketing as an integral part of the political sphere. Marketing techniques, used for communication with Czech voters, will be described on the example of the pre-election campaign of the Civic Democratic Party. Phenomena of this political communication will be compared with theoretical postulates of both political and commercial marketing.